Gentlemen:

This is, in part, to thank you for sending me a copy of Communist China's Balance of Payments, 1950-65 (CIA/RR ER 6617, October 1966). This valuable summary with statistics will be used in our special collection on Communist China where graduate students regularly are doing research.

We are also grateful to [] for recommending us as recipients. Would you please consult him about my request that, if possible, my name as a professor at this School be put on any regular mailing list you may have for the sending of unclassified publications relating to Communist China. My students and I would be interested not only in occasional published reports but also in receiving regularly the Agency's Weekly Report On Communist China. I notice that the East Asian Research Center at Harvard has been receiving this on a continuing basis for some time. If this is arranged through some other office, I should appreciate being given the reference.

STAT

Though we are always glad to receive the occasional reports on Communist China from CIA as in the past, I have the feeling that a number of unclassified reports in this field escape us. Is there some way, and if necessary on a subscription basis, for us to be placed on a regular mailing list. As you know, some agencies and publishing firms have such mailing lists and each year send out a form to have subscribers check as to their continued interest.

If there are some other fairly recent reports on Communist China that you think might interest us I should appreciate your sending me the titles of those works.

If this letter seems to ask too much, please excuse and instruct me as to your policies.

Sincerely,

Allan B. Cole
